

An artistic illustration featuring a large, bright sun with long, thin rays emanating from it, set against a warm orange and yellow sky. The sun is partially obscured by the text 'Summer of Study'. In the foreground, there are stacks of books, some open, surrounded by autumn leaves in shades of orange, red, and brown. On the left, a glass flask containing blue liquid sits on a book. On the right, another flask with blue liquid is perched on a stack of books. A quill pen lies on the ground in the center. The overall style is soft and painterly, evoking a sense of peaceful study during the summer months.
